

ABSTRACT

The crystal structures of catalytic domain of HPTPbeta, both ligand-bound and ligand-free are described. These structures are useful in computer aided drug design for identifying compounds that bind or activate HPTPbeta and thereby modulate angiogenesis mediated disorders or diseases.